Special features:

Lara regularly gets hints in her diary. The diary can be used for saving/loading and of course it can be read.:o)

Using the TAB-key the diary opens directly.

Lara can do a crawlspace jump by pressing ALT.

* The special secrets (holy crosses) can be used in the game in order to get rid of pursuers. But they are not necessarily needed. If you use them, they will still be included in the statistic.

If Lara doesn't need the burning torch item anymore, she will drop it.

Known Bugs:

Before Lara picks up the diary you should save your game, because it occasionally jumps back to the title sequence.

If you press CTRL or ESC in a mirror room, only Lara's ponytail can be seen.

If the guide (Koukol, the hunchback) does not do what he is intended to do – e.g. open doors – it will be useful if Lara runs around a bit in the concerned room. If this does not help, you should reload the former savegame and play this part again.

If it happens that the game crashes while Lara is using the telephone, it can help to save and load before.

Important installation instructions:

No installation required!

You only have to run the tomb4.exe in the main folder of the level.

If you want to listen to the dialogues in German, open the folder "deutsch" within the folder "audio" and copy these ogg files into the main audio folder to overwrite the English ogg files.

It is not possible to play this level on MAC, alas.
